The Cow in the Klandike

The dairy cow has invaded the Klon-dike. Last spring a man by the name of Cox succeeded in bringing in 17 milch cows. He at once went to selling milk in Dawson at $2.50 per gal-lon. The feed was buffalo grass pasture, and cost nothing. Now that win-ter has come, some people are won-dering what will happen to the cows. Doubtless the problem of housing and feeding them through the winter will be so great that it will be found more profitable to turn them into beef than to keep them. Even as beef they can be disposed of on foot at 60 cents per pound, $60 per hundred weight.
